Big Game Season in Northern British Columbia and the Yukon runs from August 1st through October 31st.

Each hunt is 5, 7, 10 or 14-days long. This does not include traveling days.

Hunting in early August are mainly Stone Sheep and Dall Sheep, however, the hunter can also collect Wolf if the chance should arise.

Elk and Moose season opens August 15th and Caribou September 1st.

Hunting methods

In our Yukon and Northern British Columbia properties, the majority of our hunting is done on horseback with some hunting being conducted by boat and backpacking.

We have a string of reliable horses, well adapted to the mountainous terrain. All hunts are one on one.

Transportation: It is possible to fly to Fort Nelson and Whitehorse on regularly scheduled airlines from any point in the world. Upon your arrival in any one of our base towns you will be met at the airport by our staff. Hotel reservations will have been settled in advance for an overnight stop if necessary. From your base town you will reach one of our hunting camps by plane, boat or car.

For all of our areas, upon returning to town and before departing for home, you will need to have each animal processed and inspected. We ship the trophies to our hunters (or to the taxidermists) at the end of the season for additional fees.

Accommodation Whether roughing it in the Yukon or relaxing at the Elisi Spa in British Columbia, you will be given the very best accommodations possible for each and every hunt. In most cases, hunters and their guides operate from spike camps, cabin and/or tents away from base camp. This is accomplished easily with sturdy horses equipped with the best of saddles and pack gear; allowing the hunter to cover more ground and increasing his chances of collecting a trophy animal.
