Hunting in Vermejo New Mexico/USA

Take the opportunity to experience a top class hunt in the beautiful and unspoiled landscape of New Mexico. Our partner Vermejo Park Ranch offers you 240,000 hectares of unparalleled hunting and fishing possibilities in the original western territories.

Large herds of Wapiti, Pronghorn and Bison are not uncommon in these regions and are sighted with certainty. Businessmen, like Ted Turner (CNN), and other well-known personalities spend their holidays here.

Accommodation

Vermejo Park is a private mountain resort and a bison ranch open to the public at the same time. The ranch is hidden in a valley, which offers fascinating panoramic views of the western mountain scenery of Vermejo.

You will stay in first class rooms at the ranch. Meals are served in the common dining room. A comfortable lounge invites you to enjoy convivial evenings, during which the hunting day is reviewed, while the spacious veranda offers the possibility to spot Wapitis and Mule Deer as the sun sets behind the mountains.

Casa Grande

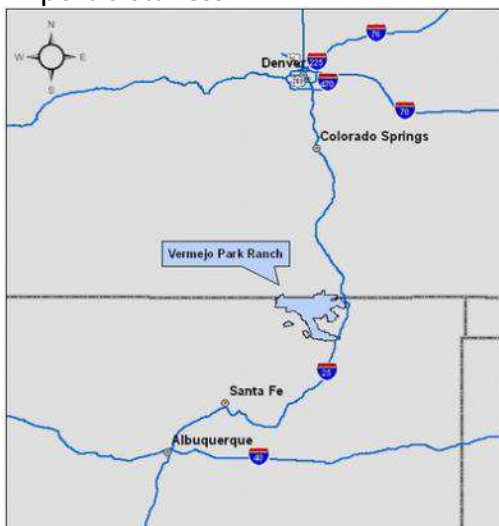

Located at 10,200 feet, and twenty-five miles from the main complex, Costilla Lodge offers the ultimate High Country get-away. With eight private bedrooms and baths, the lodge comfortably sleeps up to sixteen guests. Grand views from each room showcase the alpine prairie, rocky mountain wildlife and abundant outdoor activities. Guided day activities conclude with gourmet meals created each day by a private chef.

Elk hunting

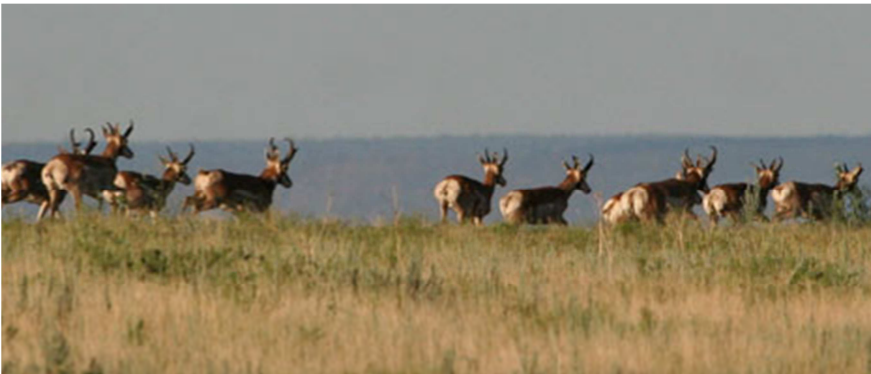

Since 1910, Vermejo operates an organized Elk hunting program, which bears fruits today, in times where hunting strong trophies of ripe Elk is becoming increasingly difficult. In Vermejo only ripe Elks are shot, which positively affects the whole population.

For this reason, chances to shoot a ripe Elk are very high. In October, several guided rifle hunts of Elk are organized. A bow hunt is conducted in mid-September.

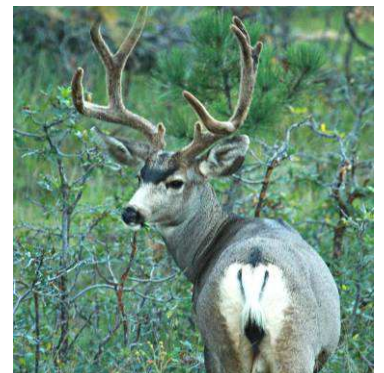

Pronghorn hunting

A quick peek and the view through your binoculars consists of the colors brown and white and the fastest North American mammal, the Pronghorn, stands hundreds of meters in front of you. New Mexico offers in terms of trophy size some of the best pronghorns! This hunt in the prairie in the south of Vermejo is magnificent and precisely the right thing for hunters, who want to test their abilities and experience.

Mule Deer hunting

Vermejo is also witnessing better health among our mule deer populations. Nonetheless, this species is still available in limited numbers; two hunts are scheduled this year.

Turkey hunting

In spring, hunting of Turkey is possible in Vermejo. The population is so large, that the word about this hunt has already spread to hunters around the world. Hunting season is from mid-April to early May.

Black bear hunting

American Black Bears are prevalent in the Rocky Mountains. Here at Vermejo, you can expect to see wide color variation in our bear population- from black to dark brown, cinnamon to blonde. Scheduled in August, this hunt is an excellent time to visit the ranch. Our seasonal monsoons run from late June to early September, bringing fresh greenery and abundant food choices for these shy, yet dignified animals. Our guides work to harvest only mature boars.

Fishing possibilities

Vermejo offers perfect fishing conditions. 21 lakes with good fish stocks provide ideal opportunities to test your fishing skills. The average weight of fishes is 1-2 pounds and it is not uncommon to catch fishes of 3-8 pounds. For devoted anglers there is also the possibility to fish in smaller streams. The best fishing season starts at the end of May and ends in September.
