Game Hunters Africa - Eastern Cape Province - Stormberg Conservancy

Hunting area Stormberg

The Stormberg Conservancy is a mixture of picturesque mountains and open valleys, situated in the high country of the Eastern Cape Province of South Africa. Part of this 100.000-acre conservancy's rich ecosystem includes 20 species of plains game, numerous game birds and waterfowl. This high altitude montane grassland area is famous for its Greywing Partridge hunting, and boasts the most stable populations of Vaal Rhebok in Africa.

The quarries in this area live from the open plains up to the rugged mountainsides, where the altitude extends up to 7500 feet above sea level. Hunting in this region can be strenuous due to the walking and stalking that is required. Hunters here will be exposed to long range shooting, so a good flat shooting rifle with variable scope is advisable. Cool temperatures can be experienced in this area; therefore it is advisable to bring warm clothes. The days can be temperate, with cold mornings and evenings.

Animals that can be hunted in and around Stormberg conservancy are: Steenbok, Grey Duiker, Cape Grysbok, Oribi, Mountain Reedbuck, Vaal Rhebok, Cape, Black and White Springbok, White and Common Blesbok, Red Lechwe, Red Hartebeest, Fallow Deer, Black Wildebeest, Burchell's Zebra, Cape Eland.

Accommodation Stormberg Buffelsfontein

Buffelsfontein is a colonial style lodge, which is set at the top of the Stormberg Mountains. After a solid day's hunting in the mountains, Buffelsfontein lodge can be a welcome sight for the weary and cold hunter. Here, fond memories of the day's hunting can be re-lived around the large stone fireplace in the entertainment room.

This provides the necessary ingredients to a good evening's entertainment. Dinner is served in a separate dining room with a blazing log fire, adding to the warm atmosphere. Electricity is available at Buffelsfontein Lodge.

Game Hunters Africa - Eastern Cape Province – Kat River Conservancy

Hunting area Kat River

The Kat River conservancy is situated in the Eastern Cape Province of South Africa. This conservancy, which is over 125000 acres, was established in this cattle ranching area to promote the environment to ensure the enhancing of both flora and fauna.

The vegetation in the Kat River Conservancy varies from thick bushveld and indigenous forest to savannah. This country is home to most of South Africa's browsing species of antelope. Hunting is typically done by sitting and glassing across valleys and then getting oneself in a position to make a clean shot.

Temperatures are somewhat warmer in this temperate low-lying, thickly wooded country than in the high altitude of the Stormberg Conservancy. The evenings can be cool and the days warm to hot.

Animals that can be hunted in the Kat River conservancy are: Steenbok, Grey Duiker, Blue Duiker, Cape Grysbok, Impala, Bontebok, Cape Bushbuck, Nyala, Red Lechwe, Red Hartbeest, Blue Wildebeest, Common Waterbuck, Warthog, Bushpig, Burchell's Zebra, Gemsbok, Cape Kudu and Cape Eland.

Accommodation Kat River Nxakwe Lodge

Nxakwe is the Xhosa name for Warthog.

These entertaining creatures are found in plentiful numbers in this region. This is a true African style lodge where lighting is battery and paraffin powered. It consists of a thatched double story dining/entertainment room and central lapa area, where a blazing open log fire mesmerizes you as drinks are served under the African night stars. Sleeping quarters are thatched bungalows with en-suite bathrooms. These bungalows are connected to each other and the central lapa area by wooden walkways.

Accommodation
Kat River
Manzikhanya
Lodge

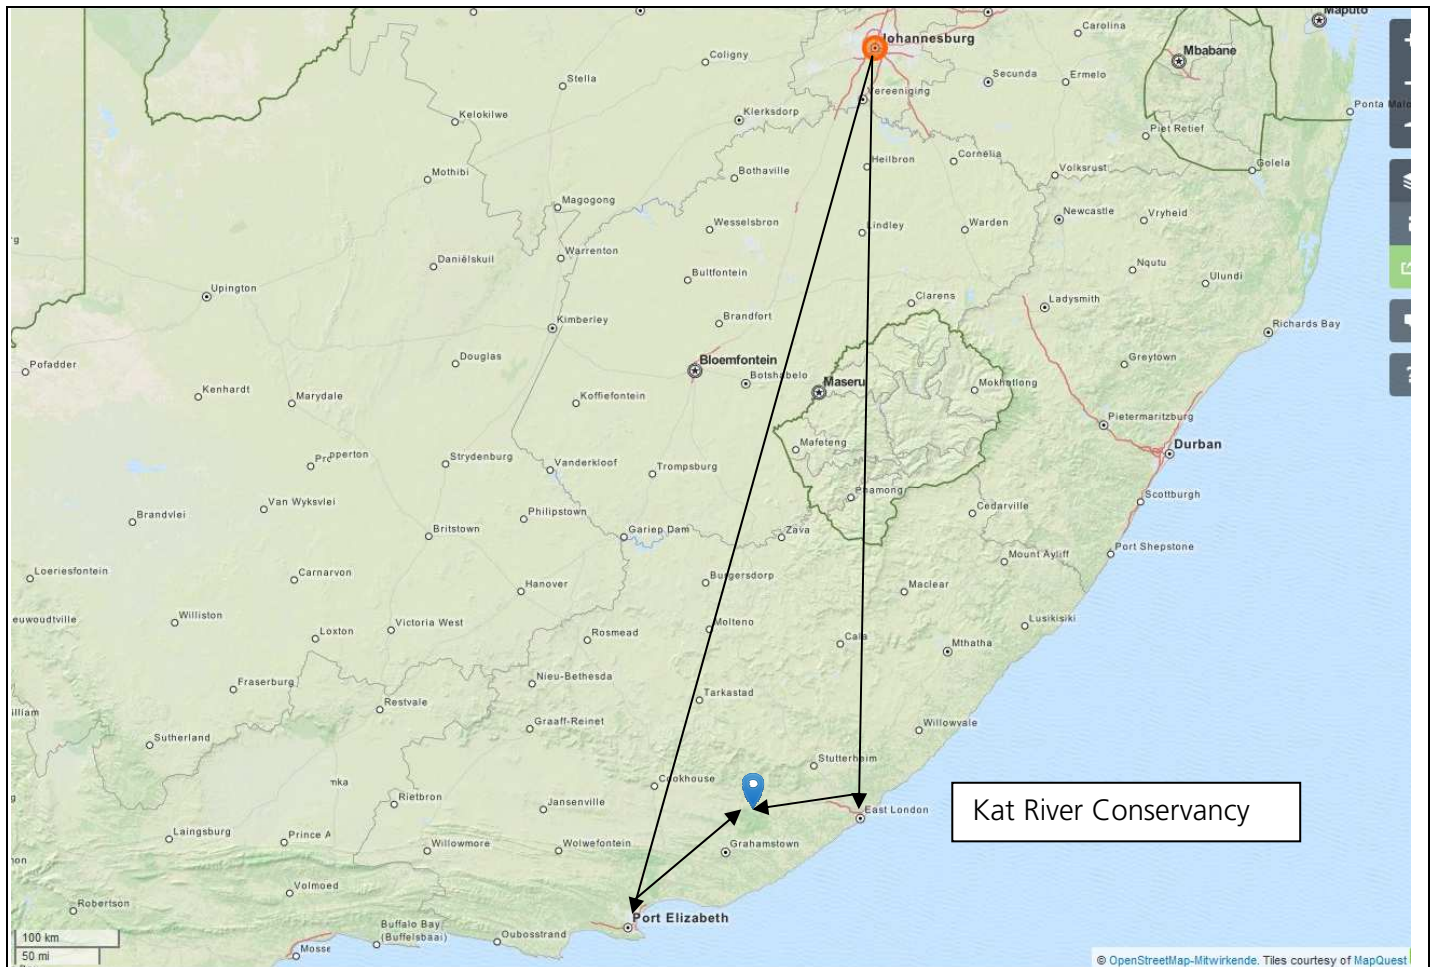

Manzikhanya is a Lodge set in the heart of the bushveld. It consists of a central indoor lounge and both indoor & outdoor dining areas. Guests are entertained either inside or around a large open fire, under the African sky, depending on the weather. Separate en-suite cabins are situated a short distance from the central area, providing the guests with both privacy and convenience. Lighting is battery and paraffin powered.
