ADVICES:

Significant stress on the body should be avoided, especially while acclimating.

In addition, ensure that you drink plenty of fluids and use sun protection, especially during the hot season.

You should eat light meals and avoid fatty foods; excessive alcohol consumption will further reduce the body's resilience, which is already impaired.

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

Please note the entry rules for each country. You can obtain this information from the relevant consulate. If you are a visa, please note that you are responsible for obtaining the visa yourself.

HEALTH

The quality of medical care is below the general Western European standards, but basic medical care is available.

Chikungunya:

Early on in the year, there is an increased spread of infections caused by the Chikungunya virus in La Réunion, the Seychelles and Mauritius.

Due to the high risk of infection, the advice is to be highly vigilant and protect against mosquito bites as a preventive measure. Information about the risk of tropical diseases can be obtained from the Center for Travel Health or, for example, the WHO.

Vaccinations:

There are no mandatory vaccinations for traveling here, except when entering from a country where yellow fever is present (otherwise not necessary). Apart from the basic vaccinations for all travelers (diphtheria/tetanus/polio, hepatitis A & B, typhoid), the Center for Travel Health recommends malaria prophylaxis for independent tourists and for those planning extended stays in or tours through some very rural areas.

Caution:

Make sure you follow standard hygiene measures, such as washing your hands frequently. Caution is also advised when consuming raw fruit and salads. You should only drink tap water after it has been boiled, if at all. Taking a travel medical kit containing your regular medication plus medication for common travel-related illnesses is highly recommended.

INSURANCE

Taking out travel insurance in case you fall ill or require ambulance services is advised.

HUNTING IN MAURITIUS

The best season for hunting is from July to Mid November, however Mauritius has a subtropical climate and therefore it is generally recommended to travel in the period between July and October.

There are different game species that can be hunted, for example does, brockets, wild boars, pheasants, pigeons and guinea fowls (year-round).
Hunting here consists mainly of rusa deer and wild boars. Rusa deer, which are native to East Asia, can develop antlers that weigh up to 8kg.

We have found a reliable partner in G. D. V. LTD. who tailors each offer to the individual customer and perfectly organizes the hunts. The hunting ground encompasses approximately 4,000 ha and is located in the south of the island. The deer population is enormous and battues can also be inquired about. With regard to physical condition hunters should be prepared, the region is hilly.

From the airport situated in the southeast, you have a short transfer to the hotel.
